

Edward González-Novoa is the new Executive Director of Public Allies New York and brings with him over 12 years of experience in education, youth leadership and community service. Prior to coming to Public Allies, Eddie served as the Director of New Perspectives at Bank Street College, the Director of Training & Resources and After School Services at the Hetrick-Martin Institute, and as Co-Founder and Program Director of Jumpstart New York. He holds a B.A. and certificate in Theater and Dance from Princeton University and Masters degrees in Divinity and Education from Harvard.

Eddie is eager to serve, learn and grow alongside his Allies, staff and community partners. An aspiring writer, amateur singer, and former dancer, Eddie believes that his multiple passions have fueled his personal mission: to lead through service and serve through leadership.
